To Charles Swan Rex we are indebted for the existence of this genealogy. In writing to Dr. Parks Rex under date of January 17th, 1893, he says: "I have been working on the Rex genealogy for more than two years" which he continued intermittently until the time of his death, May 12, 1917. In compliance with his request, the work was then carried on by his eldest son, George B. Rex who diligently searched in all lines until some four years ago when he put the task into my hands. When it was first suggested to me I refused, but later the thought insistently recurred to my mind that if I did not do this work perhaps it might never be done. I had read in many letters written by Chas. S. Rex how desirous he was to finish the book and how he feared failing health would prevent. To have his hard work lost disturbed me, and again I thought, as the father of my boy was gone, perhaps in his place it was my duty to do this work. As an offering to The House of Rex. in remembrance of the father of my boy, and for the benefit of my son and all others of the younger generations I bring my little contribution.

Tradition, history and dates are all as correct and complete as it was possible for me to obtain them. We are indebted to many members of the family for their loyal assistance, and only those who have had the experience realize what this means; also, how great the effort is at times for smallest results. For the benefit of this book, Dan and I have personally interviewed people from Seattle, Washington, to Eliot, Maine; have visited the graves of George Rex 1st and wife and of ten of their twelve children, their old homes, courthouses, and all places where records and information might be found, and have taken notes and pictures everywhere we went.

This is from the notes of Chas. S. Rex: "I find our people all God fearing men and women; most of them warm hearted Christians holding prominent positions in all the various Protestant churches. The men the best of husbands and fathers and the women the best of wives and mothers. None exceedingly wealthy and none extremely poor. I have never known an Almshouse or prison door to shut on one of them."

At any time I will appreciate receiving corrections or additions to the family data.

Rex Ancestral Home near Jefferson, Green County, Pa.

Ancestry of George Rex

"Like leaves on trees the race of man is found,
Now green in youth, now withering on the ground;
Another race the following spring supplies,
They fall successive, and successive rise
So generations in their course decay,
So flourish these, when those have passed away."

In England at London or near there, in the year 1750, George Rex was born. He emigrated to the United States of America in 1771 and settled in Pennsylvania near Philadelphia, and in 1772 married Margaret Kepler of Bucks Co. Pennsylvania. At the time of their marriage she was 20 years old and he 22 years of age.

We have no authentic record of these ancestors but it is said she was very dark, heavy and short of stature, and German in nationality. This seems true as the text of her bible is German and the deeds on record at Lewistown, Pa., Mifflin Co. her brother, Benjamin Kepler, signed in German. Deed book D. pg. 471, 3-14-1785, he sells some land to George Rex. There is an unsupported statement that George Rex received an annuity from the English crown as long as he lived. Was said to be a Tory and even that he served in the English army but we herewith show a copy of the original document where he took the oath of allegiance to the U. S. in 1777.

All is printed but the names of Rex and Allen, the dates and the Northumberland Co.

"Lancaster printed by Frank Bailey

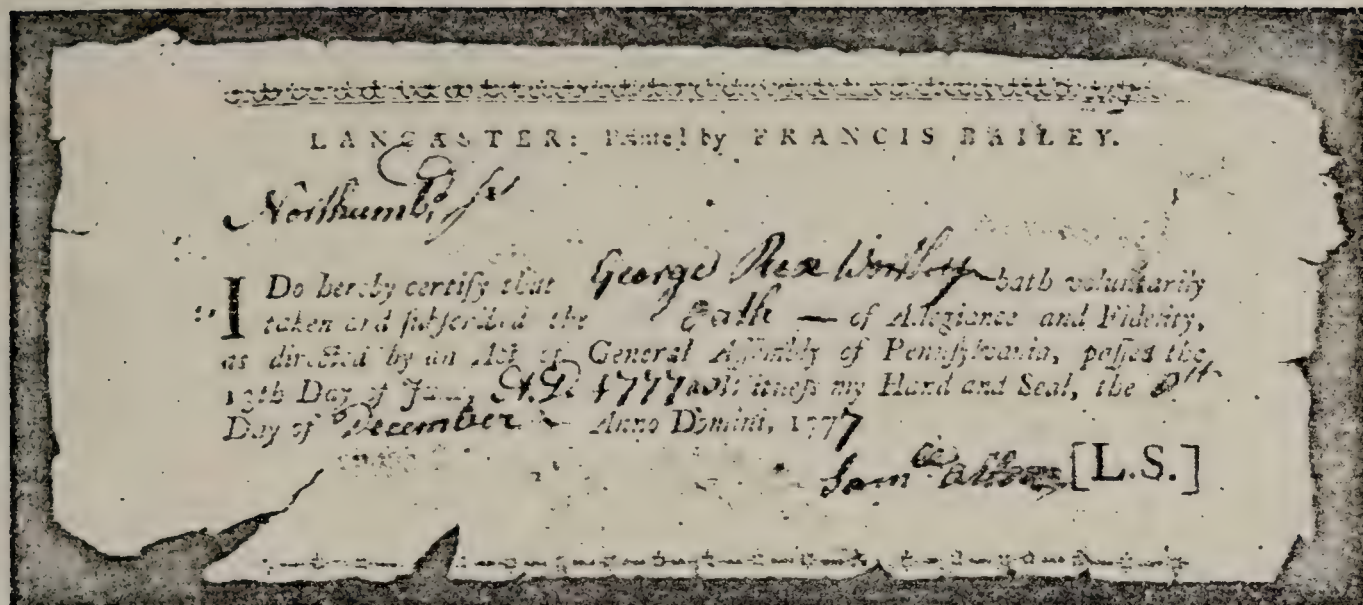

Northumbdt—

I do hereby certify that George Rexworthy has voluntarily taken and subscribed the oath of Allegiance and Fidelity as directed by an Act of General Assembly of Pennsylvania, passed the 13th day of June, A. D. 1777 as Witness my Hand and Seal the 8th Day of December Anno Domini 1777 Sam'el Allen (L.S.)" The long S. and double S. is used. Sometime after his marriage, George Rex is supposed to have moved from Buck Co. to Mifflin Co. on the Juniata River. Were several in the group, one of whom was Benj. Kepler, the brother of Margaret Kepler Rex. We find in Penna. Archives, Vol. XIX p. 53 and 54, George Rex, farmer, tax £4. 8D.—George Rex 1779, 1 horse 2 cattle, Cumberland Co.—1780, 2 horses 8 cattle, Cumberland Co.—Vol. 20, 1781, 2 horse 3 cattle—U. S. Census 1790 has George Rex listed as 1-3-6 (meaning 1 male head, 3 sons, 5 daughters and a wife). Mifflin Co. was formed Sept. 19, 1789, from Cumberland and North Cumberland Cos. Our private record says he had 8 children when he left Mifflin Co. and that the 9th child, Benjamin, was born in Green Co. 1-9-1792. There is a deed Book D. pg. 466, dated Nov. 11, 1790, where George Rexworthy and wife Margaret sell their land in Mifflin Co. to Nathaniel Hart consideration 265 lbs. which would also seem to tell they were moving away.

In Green Co. which was then Washington Co., March 21, 1796, recorded in Patent Book, P, Vol. 27, pg. 432, shows where George Rex patented 252½ acres of land called "Drowl", the old ancestral homestead near Jefferson, Pa. There are members of the family who remember this original document which was sheepskin. There are many spellings of the name: Rix, Rax, Rex, and Rexworthy. Then there is another 4-acre tract near this larger one, warrant granted 1-6-1819, patented to George Rexworthy. This 252 acres was divided many years ago among the heirs who yet own parts of it. The homestead portion, however, being sold outside in 1900 and the present owner is D.D. Thistlewaite. The last member of the Rex family born at the old home was Ernest Walton Rex, 5-23-1885. Is where Margaret and George Rex 1st died and were buried here in the family plot. In 1895 their bodies were removed by their grandson, George Rex, (son of Chas.) to the New Jefferson, Pa. cemetery. The exact inscriptions are given here as appear on their very quaint large flat stones.

These death records were confirmed by markings on the tombstones. Seen by Dan and Leda Rex, August 4, 1931.

And whispers she's in heaven.

George Rex 1st is described as a tall man of slight build, very quiet and unassuming and a devout Episcopalian. A man of influence in the community in which he lived, successful in a business way but owing to his extreme reticence only the actual monuments he left behind tell the story of his life. He built a chapel on his farm near Jefferson and left quite an estate when he died. To every one of his twelve children he gave a large bible and a prayer book (see his will) subscribing in each of them some admonition for right living. The following is from the Benjamin Rex bible, line 9:

“The gift of George Rex, Senior, to his son Benjamin, June 10, 1817. It is also his sincere desire that this his most valuable and last bequest shall be preserved and the precepts therein laid down be strictly followed.”

In an Episcopal church paper called The Church News, for March, 1926, is a copy of a letter signed G. D. H. to Bishop Mann, where the writer tells of this Will of George Rex and giving these bibles to his children. Countless church records have been searched but to no avail, hoping to find the marriage bond of Margaret and George Rex and even the archives in London were appealed to because many of the old churches until the Revolution were operated under the missionaries of the S.P.G. The twelve children of Margaret Kepler and George Rex 1st are as follows:

Mary Rex (Polly) b. 1773, d. 1847, m. John Hughes 1795.

Elizabeth (Betty) b. 4-2-1775, d. 1852, m. John Bower 1794.

George 2nd, b. 10-14-1778, d. 1856, m. Jane Black 1806.

Martha, b. 7-15-1780, d. 1853, m. Wm. Winter.

Edward (Ned) b. 11-24-1782, d. 1843, m. Hetty Huffdale, 1821.

Jonas, b. 2-4-1785, d. 1841, m. Rhoda Milliken, 1808.

Hannah, b. 7-16-1787, d. 1866, m. Isaac Shane 1805.

Margaret, b. 11-8-1789, d. 1808, m. Wm. McCullough 1807.

Benjamin, b. 1-9-1792, d. 1854, m. Anna Barclay 1816, Martha Thompson, 1839.

Catherine, b. 12-2-1793, d. 1873, m. Joseph Burson.

Sarah (Sally) b————m. Day and Cloaky. No issue.

Charles, b. 1-1801, d. 9-13-1854, m. Mary Hickman 10-2-1831.

All married and all had families except Sarah Rex.

And shall Charles not be of age on the death of my wife, I hereby direct that he and his brother, Benjamin, may farm or work the place together, dividing annually the profits until Charles is of full age, at which time I wish one to buy up the other's right if they choose to separate.

Item: I give and bequeath unto my son, George Rex, One Hundred and Fifty Dollars of monies which may be found of my Estate; also a piece off the north-west side of my land which is separated by a jut or run from the bridge on the road to Jefferson to follow the meander of the said run to Ten Mile Creek, also the two lots in Jefferson whereon his home is erected and which he now occupies to him and his heirs forever.

Item: I give and bequeath unto my daughter, Sarah Rex, when she becomes of age, Three Hundred Dollars and a sorrel year old colt now in my possession, two good cows, and six sheep of the stock on the farm, besides over and above what her mother may please to give her at her marriage or at her mother's decease.

Eleven of the said bibles and prayer books to be given to my eleven children, and one each to my grandson, George McCullough as a memorial of my affection to them and their children that their names may be written therein as the bequest of their father.

John†Swan, a Major in Revolutionary War. Waynesburg, Pa. Deed Book I, p. 661, deed Thos. Hughes to Geo. Rex, 1802 lots 10 and 18, town of Jefferson, Pa. on Washington and Green Sts. Marie Prine O'Brien Lemley notes (which we acknowledge with thanks) say these lots were given to Thos. Hughes, father-in-law of Mary Rex-Hughes for his Rev. War services. The deed reads "Said lots being a part of a tract of land granted unto said Thos. Hughes by the Commonwealth of Pa., by patent bearing date 4-17-1795." Patent Book 25, p. 50, Mrs. O'B-L further says that the father of Thos. Felix†Hughes was a soldier in the Revolution. That Thos. Hughes was the founder of Jefferson Borough, Pa., coming there from Carmichael Valley, built a stone house near the home of the widow Stephens.

LINE II

II. Our records say that Elizabeth (called Betsy) (second child of Margaret Kepler and Geo.¹ Rex) was b. in Mifflin County., Pa. Apr. 20, 1775. At the family home near Jefferson, Green Co., Pa. July 15, 1794 she married John Bower. He was born Apr. 23, 1772, Lancaster Co., Pa. He came there and settled in Fredericktown, Pa. where they lived and died. She d. Oct. 11, 1852 and he d. July 29, 1836. John Bower who m. Betsy Rex was a boatbuilder, distiller, and had a mill and pottery business. There are pictures of the Old Mill built in 1893 and Distillery, first in the town. We made a very pleasant stop at Fredericktown, spent the night as guests at the Bower Hotel, owned and operated by Walter S. Bower, grandson of Betsy Rex Bower. We saw and have pictures of an old tile bearing his name and date, also the old corner stones, one of which is still in place in the lovely old stone house built by John and Betsy Bower and is where they died. The doorways and outside chimneys of this house are as beautiful as any to be found. We also visited the Millsbore Cemetery, a mile above Fredericktown, where there are 16 of the Bower family buried. The Betsy and John Bower stones are slabs in good repair (as the picture shows). Hers reads "In memory of Elizabeth, wife of John Bower, died Oct. 11, 1852, aged 77 yrs." The old mill burned in 1929. Was a runway right from the Mill to the river. John Bower built the first boat to run on the Monongahla River—Adriadne by name—of which his son Chas. was Captain. John Bower discovered and mined the first coal along the Monongahla Valley about the year 1835 in what was then known as "Apple Bottom." From History of Washington Co., Pa. p. 767, published 1882: "John Bower, the ancestor of the family of that name, was a son of Andrew Bower of York Co., Pa. who was a son of Martin Bower (Bower 1st records pg. 2) a German emigrant. He was born 4-23-1772 and on 7-15-1794 m. Eliz. Dau. of George Rexworthy who moved westward in about 1793 and settled near Jefferson,, Green Co. John Bower with his wife followed in March and April 1796 and settled at Fredericktown then lately laid out on the Monongahla River. On Aug. 18, 1801, he received a deed from David Blair for a tract of 52½ acres, patented to Blair, May 13, 1789, and called "Apple Bottom." This tract formed part of the homestead of Mr. Bower and upon it he erected the large stone residence at the lower end of Main St., in Fredericktown, where he lived till his death, July 29, 1836. His widow survived him and died Oct. 11 1852. Mr. B. was commissioned a justice of the Peace under the constitution of 1790 on Dec. 10, 1818, which position he held at or near the time of his death."

Mr. W. S. Bower, Fredericktown, has the original letter written by his grandfather John in 1818, from which I copied the following: "Flat Boat in the mouth of Big Kenaway at Point Pleasant 300 Miles below Pittsburgh, Sunday, Dec. 20, 1818. I expect your waters are closed with ice, you will wonder how it is with us; I will therefore inform you that we are here blocked up until the weather changes, etc. etc.

John Bower."

"Discovery of Coal in this Valley"

David Blair, sly old fox, would have kept a great fuel field to feed his Blacksmith Forge had not the Miller of Apple Bottom discovered his secret.

By Mrs. John Risbeck.

"The richest coal producing valley in the world was discovered quite by accident in the person of David Blair. Somewhere previous to 1835 and was made known to the world by John Bower, Miller O'Apple Bottom, according to the honor and justice to him keeping his mill right merely at Fredericktown on the bank of the deeply rolling Monongahla River. Now be it remembered that the Monongahla River is most unlovely, most dark, etc. It is an old busy body of a river, plodding away in the prosaic rut our fathers knew; it has seen the rise and fall of empires, the decline and growth of races, the curled periwig of Lafayette and the fevered nose of Washington. It can recite history by the mile and knows more than anybody could ever guess, but it won't tell. Its valley is the only possible modern prototype of Sinbad's valley of diamonds. Nor is the finding of it without romance since it has to deal with the miserliness of one Blacksmith to whom little credit is due for happening upon this Valley of diamonds, and seeking to keep its riches for himself and one Miller who discovered to the race at once the perfidy of the Blacksmith and our common inheritance from the mother of us all. As for the manner of this man, John Bower, he was a strong fellow, frugal and enterprising to a degree that made his memory a tradition of the town among its people who speak of him even now as one who lived nearly a century before the world was ready for his kind. With head and hand he worked and planned always to the advantage of the town and his fellows. He had no manner of patience with the spendthrift or the droan. In addition to his many business enterprises he allowed his townsmen to elect him Squire and 'tis said he handed out justice with Brutus like impartiality. John Bower left impress of his practical nature upon Fredericktown. He was Justice of the Peace 23 years of his life, he organized and successfully conducted the business of boatbuilding, pottery and tannery. He began making redware very early in the 19th century and some of the tile he made may be seen yet in the neighborhood of Apple Bottom which is a part of Fredericktown wherein are located the old Bower buildings. David Blair was hunting in vicinity of Dan Ther Den Hollow, chased a fox into a shallow cave and in poking it with a stick, dislodged a lump of coal. He tried to keep the find a secret and have for only his own use. John Bower also discovered where he got it and soon opened a mine near Blair's shop and everybody had coal."

G. Wm.⁴ Winters Rex, 2nd, b. 10-4-1851, d. 4-24-1857.

B. Sarah⁴ Jane Rex, b. 7-17-1840, Ripley Co., Ind. d. 8-2-1929, Ogden, Utah, m. 1st Peter Lostutter Kelly, 1-11-1856. She lived at Ashland, Ill. until 12-11-1908.

Sarah J. Kelly Beggs and the Kelly family have assisted much in the Rex genealogy and are among those believing the family descends from Hannah Lightfoot and Geo. III, King of England. Mrs. Beggs so firmly believed this that 7-17-1929 she took oath subscribed and sworn on this date at Ogden, Utah, as follows: "That I, Sarah Jane Rex-Kelly-Beggs, was born July 17, 1840, and being of sound mind on this 17th day of July, 1929, do hereby make the following statement for the information and benefit of all whom it may concern, that according to my best knowledge and belief I have known by common conversation, within my father's household, and family history of the Rex family from the years of my childhood, through youth and maturity, that I am a direct descendent of Prince George William Frederick, who was later crowned George III of England and Hannah Lightfoot, "The Fair Quakeress" and of George Rex and Margaret Kepler and of George Rex and Jane Black and of William Winters Rex and Mary Ann Mesler."

She states further that the other members of the family have this same knowledge and then says "The story as I have always known it is that for reasons of State Hannah Lightfoot and her son George were brought to America accompanied by a colony of people, among whom were relatives who located in N. Y. State. She was well provided for with cattle, horses, servants, material necessities and luxury, silver plate, etc. which has been treasured and handed down in the Rex family. That during trouble with the Indians they left N. Y. and part or all of the colony went by boat down the Susquahanna River and later settled in Western Penna." The casket of Mrs. Beggs gives her name and descent as given above. There are members of the family who do not believe this story at all and others who feel this book would be entirely remiss without mention of it. Records have been produced showing the legal marriage of the Prince and Hannah L. and that there was much happiness until members of the Royal family separated them and put in effect the Royal Marriage Act. The ages of the Prince and Hannah would seem to make their marriage unlikely and there are other families who claim the same descent. See Commando pg. 255, by Reitz, etc. Those interested may read the book "The Fair Quakeress" by Marie Pendered and in it there are dozens of other references. My conclusion was one of surprise that Geo. III could remain as good and reasonable as he did in such an environment. Mrs. Aline Shane Devin, Line 7, who was a writer and traveler, wrote to Lord Sackville-West years ago to learn about the Sir Joshua Reynolds portrait of Hannah Lightfoot which hangs in the gallery of Knole Castle, the seat of the Sackville-West family, Sevenoaks, Eng. Is called portrait of Mrs. Axford in catalogue. Recently she has corresponded with a daughter of this house, Miss Sackville-West, in regard to the picture and has also found an added interest in this lady, the writer of "The Edwardians," a book she much enjoyed.

Anne Rex Vale wrote "I have heard my father, Benj. Rex and aunt Sarah Day Cloaky, talk many times of Grandfather Geo. Rex 1st having received a pension from King Geo. III to the day of his death." Parks Rex also remembered having heard aunt Burson and his father speak at different times of the Grandfather Geo. Rex pension from King Geo. III and these boys did not then know of the relationship to King Geo. III but they fully believed the same from family history and family resemblance. Aunt Kitty Burson and Lib. Rex dau. of Benj. were the very picture of Queen Victoria, and as Parks said later, Ross E. is the very likeness of Edward VII." Aline Shane Devin wrote that after Walter Besant saw the picture of her Grandmother Hannah Rex Shane he said that there was a strong resemblance to the royal family in it. Mrs. Devin also wrote "When I was in England the first time and having my hair dressed, the attendant said to me, 'Pardon me, Miss, but may I say that you resemble our dear queen very strongly,' to which I replied, 'Oh, mercy, do you really think so?'" For as you remember Victoria was not very easy on the eyes, for that matter neither am I, still I did think rather better of my own looks." Mrs. Stevens of line 12 wrote "You know Hannah Lightfoot and King Geo. III both had red hair and so did my great grandfather, my grandfather and also his oldest brother. The tootmouth comes down for generations in the Rex family, being very strong in our own line the same as that of Geo. III." Following is an article from the Chicago Tribune:

1582948

OF ROYAL DESCENT—A granddaughter of George III lives in Chicago. George Rex, the son of George III, and the Quakeress, Hannah Lightfoot, came to America to reside. The Chicago woman, who refuses to give her name, traces her relationship to him through both her father and mother. Some bits of historical information.

Following is an extract from a letter received yesterday from the Tribune:

"Chicago, Ill., Jan. 16. (Editor of the Tribune)—In view of the recent death of the heir apparent to the throne of Great Britain and the discussions it has evoked in the daily journals concerning the genealogies of the members of the reigning House of Hanover it has occurred to the undersigned that you might consider it of interest to your readers to interview a direct descendent of the third George through his morganatic marriage with the fair Quakeress, Hannah Lightfoot. It is not the desire to achieve a brief newspaper fame that prompts this suggestion, and the one consideration of the interview would be that your reporter should not make public the present name of the great-granddaughter of the obstinate and narrow-minded but kindly George III of Hanover."

In response to the foregoing a Tribune reporter called at a pleasant apartment house on Warren Avenue yesterday afternoon and after a few preliminary questions and answers, in which the inevitable speaking tube acted as intermediary, was ushered directly into the presence of a thoroughly American cousin of the Queen of England. A blue-eyed, fresh-looking woman of perhaps 35, with a refined, agreeable voice and cordial manner—such is the descendent of the "Third George," who finds herself living in Chicago just 133 years after her royal ancestor fell in love with and was married to pretty Hannah Lightfoot in Curzon Street Chapel, Mayfair, England.

One seems to see in her dignity of carriage, in her directness of speech, even in her complexion and her regular features, traces of her kinship but in her surroundings there is nothing of the pomp and ceremony that is popularly supposed to hedge about kings and the daughters of kings, although all the furnishings of the little flat bespeak good taste and comparative prosperity.

There are good pictures on the walls and books in abundance on the shelves and tables. The rugs and draperies are quiet in tone, selected with evident care. Although it is plain that America has been faithful to what ever tactic charge England laid upon her when George Rex, eldest son of King George III and Hannah Lightfoot, came over to this country shortly after the end of the Revolutionary War and proceeded to identify his interests with those of the young Republic by marrying a Philadelphian, and has dealt kindly with the members of the family thus established.

George's Granddaughter Talks

"I haven't much of a story to tell you, after all," said George III's granddaughter. "I have found it difficult to trace the career of the various branches of my family, on account of the extreme reticence of the older people to talk of our origin. They feel that it is in someway a stain upon our fair name, and in reply to questions they always say: 'Let sleeping disgrace lie.' It is only within the last ten years that I and some of my cousins have begun investigating the matter for our own satisfaction. Perhaps what we have found out may be of interest just now.

"Of course you know that George III married quite legally Hannah Lightfoot, a Quakeress, two years before he was persuaded by his Ministers into marriage with Princess Charlotte of Mecklenburg-Strelitz. By his morganatic wife three children were born to him, one of whom married an East Indian officer, a second died insane, and the third, George Rex, when he was in his early twenties, came to America. I don't know much about him, save that he was a pronounced Tory, that he never mentioned his parentage, and that he had a small income, presumably supplied by the King. He brought with him some Church of England prayer-books and some silver marked 'G. R., which were afterwards distributed among his children and which are still in existence, treasured by some of my cousins, although I do not happen to have any. His eldest child was a son named George, the second a daughter, Hannah. She was my grandmother. My grandfather was Isaac Shane, a wealthy farmer, who lived near Steubenville, in Jefferson County, O. My father was the third of twelve children, and, after he married, he settled in Iowa, where he has been a Judge of the Circuit Court. He also enjoys the rank of colonel, which he won by his services in the late war.

Doubly Related to the King

My mother too, was a descendent of George the Third, as my father's aunt married her father. She has been dead a great many years, but my father is still living. I have only one sister, who lives in Dakota. She is married and has children, one a son, so the family will not die out. I have no children myself, unfortunately. I think that is really all I can tell you. Some time I hope to know more of the details of the family history."

Asked for photographs, the descendent of the House of Hanover very willingly loaned that of her grandmother, Mrs. Isaac Shane, and rather reluctantly, those of her mother and father, but refused positively to allow her own to appear in the Tribune.

In connection with her story it is interesting to know that shortly after King George's marriage with Princess Charlotte, Hannah Lightfoot disappeared. It is supposed she died. At all events nothing more was ever heard of her. According to the Rt. Hon. Lady Anne Hamilton, who has chronicled some matters pertaining to the Court of England not always found in other histories, says the King was greatly distressed to ascertain the fate of his much-beloved and legally-married wife, the Quakeress, and intrusted Lord Chatham to go in disguise and endeavor to trace her abode; but the search proved fruitless. Whatever became of her the children seem to have been left in charge of an old nurse, to depend upon the rather unstable and uncertain assistance the court might give them. They were brought up by the nurse near London, apparently receiving some recognition from their father, although naturally of the slightest nature.

6. John³ Styles Rex (6th of Jonas² and R. M. Rex, Geo.¹) b. at Richmond 5-7-1821. He spent his life in Richmond and d. there on 11-20-1898. m. Rachel Scott, dau. of John and Eliz. Scott, 3-23-1848. She was also a native of Richmond, b. 11-7-1826 and d. Steubenville, O. 10-31-1819. Parents of 7 children. The Rex homestead on which they lived belonged to the family from 1815 to 1900. (Old Jonas Rex place, three miles S. E. of Richmond). John S. Rex was a farmer, a very tall man, very industrious and had very strong religious convictions.

His picture and following taken out of a book, History of Two Ridge Church: "John Rex was b. May 7-1821 on the farm where he died November 20, 1898. For forty years Mr. Rex was a consecrated follower of the Master. He was in every sense of the word a good man. He was naturally quiet and reserved. A former pastor who knew him well says of him: 'My recollections of Mr. Rex are very pleasant. As a citizen, he had positive views on things political, but not abusive of those who differed with him. As a neighbor he was ever ready to lend a helping hand. As a husband and father of a large family, he was ever kind and loving. But I knew him best as an Elder. He was noted for his strong convictions of right and duty, from which he could not be easily turned aside. He was a champion for the religion of his ancestry, which was strictly Pauline. To me he was a spiritual father, a wise counselor, the preacher's friend. In the days of his strong manhood he was a man of power in prayer, but the closing years of his life were clouded by physical infirmities, brought about by numerous light paralytic strokes. God granted him up to the last well-balanced, clear mental faculties, and a short time before he died he requested of the writer to sing that grand old hymn "How Firm a Foundation, Ye Saints of the Lord," which request was granted, and soon he passed away resting secure on that foundation.' He was elected and installed as Elder of Two Ridge Church, April 24, 1864, and remained as such until the day of his death as recorded above."

"Probably the most marked characteristics of my father, John Styles Rex, were his unceasing industry and his strong religious convictions. He was especially strict in his ideas of Sabbath observance. This is illustrated quite well by an incident which occurred shortly after the writer, his youngest son of 21 years of age, had taken over the management of the home farm. That spring I decided to tap a few maple trees that were on the farm and connected some pans with an old-fashioned fireplace in the basement of the house where the sap was boiled into syrup. The sap as gathered was stored in barrels outside and was run from there into the basement as fast as it could be boiled down. It so happened that on Saturday we had an immense run of sap. Father told me at noon it would be useless for me to gather more sap than could be boiled down before midnight because there could be no Sunday boiling on his premises. Nevertheless, I gathered and stored all the sap that flowed and at midnight was boiling away at full speed. A few minutes after the clock struck twelve, I was not greatly surprised to see father's tall form come slowly down the inside cellar stairs clad only in the scanty garments of slumber hours. Without pause he passed across a corner of the basement to the outside cellar way and disappeared into darkness. He made no comment upon the situation or explanation of his mission other than to ask me rather sternly as he passed if I did not know it was the Sabbath. Only a few seconds after his disappearance into the night, I heard the sound of wood striking wood, followed quickly by the merry gurgle and swish of sap released from the confines of the barrels. One after another, as all my raw material was on its way to Cross Creek and the Ohio River, there was absolutely nothing for me to do but shut down and go to bed."

who emigrated from N. J. to Washington Co., Pa. in 1774 and settled 4 miles west of Monongahela City where Isaac was b. In 1798 his father located on the headwaters of Mills Creek. Isaac lived here till 10-8-1805 when he m. Hannah Rex, dau. of Geo. Rex of Green Co., Pa. and in 1810 moved to what is known as the "Red Mill" property. In 1812 he removed to N. E. quarter of Sec. 19, Range 3, twp. 11, where he remained, clearing a large farm and rearing a large family. The children all m. but Margaret who d. in infancy. Mr. Shane was industrious. At one time he and his sons owned 1,000 acres of land in Ross Twp. Elected Justice of the Peace in 1817 and held this office until 1827. Was in the Legislature in 1843. A Republican, a Presbyterian. 97 yrs. old. Retentive memory—all faculties. Dictated Bacon Ridge Church History in this book." (This from Hist. of Belmont and Jefferson Counties O. J. A. Caldwell Pub. 1880.)

Following is an article from the Steubenville Herald: "Cemetery Association Granted Ohio Charter. Ross Twp. Group takes Over Pioneer Burying Ground. Name is changed.—As a result of renewed interest in a pioneer burying ground in Ross Twp., a gathering was called of friends and relatives of those buried there. A committee was appointed and a charter was obtained from the state for the Mt. Lebanon Cemetery Association. Title of the two tracts in the cemetery was transferred to the new corporation, and the cemetery will hereafter be known as "Mt. Lebanon Cemetery." There are a number of good lots still available in the plot. Miss Frances Sutton is given credit for her efforts in bringing about the new organization. The incorporators are A. M. Shane, W. R. Scott, W. V. Wallace, John L. McClelland, R. W. Sutton. The original plot for burying ground purposes was given the community by Isaac Shane, a pioneer of Bacon Ridge in Ross Twp. Mainly Scotch pioneers and their descendants rest there as the markers indicate. There are Suttons, Shanes, Scotts, Baresfords, Crabbs, Rexs, Ryans, Kerrs, McClellands, Wallaces, Williams, Browns, Fraziers, Wycoffs and many other families buried there. In later years as the cemetery was nearly filled up, additional ground was purchased by William R. Lyle of Bellingham, Washington, whose parents, John and Sara Lyle, are buried there and this was donated to the cemetery association. A grandson of the pioneer is John R. Shane of Miami, Florida, a former resident of Steubenville." To Mrs. Anna B. Scott is due the credit for much of the information for Line VII, also for the pictures of her grandmother Hannah Rex and her aunt, Kitty Burson, those of the graves of Hannah and Isaac Shane, and of the lovely old brick home which they built in 1829, which is yet in good repair. I will say, if on every line there were one person as energetic and conscientious as Mrs. Scott, this would be a most complete genealogy. After our lengthy correspondence it was with pleasure indeed for my son, Dan Rex, and I to meet her in her Ohio home. She is what is called "The salt of the earth" and knowing her, I feel repays much of the effort put forth in compiling this history. In connection with this Line VII, I will also say we drove in our car as far as Eliot, Maine, to meet Mrs. Aline Shane Devin, who has been much interested in the family. In writing in 1930 Mrs. Scott says "My brother B. F. Shane and I both remember distinctly our Grandmother Shane as a large woman and in her early days, strong and resolute, A famous housekeeper and one who looked to the ways of her household. Of her father, Geo.¹ Rex 1st, I have always heard he was settled in Pa. and had money, plenty for those days. He came (over the mountains) with his family and settled in Green Co., Pa. Grandmother often told how the family came in wagons. She said she walked all the way only as she would swing on behind one of the wagons with her feet drawn up. She came to Jefferson Co. O. to visit her sister, Mattie Rex Winters, and there met Isaac Shane. When her first child was several months old, she went back to Green Co. Pa. to visit her parents. She rode horseback, carrying the child on her lap. Grandfather went with her and helped her across the Ohio River at Wells Riffles (below Steubenville, O.) Then he came back and she made the rest of the journey alone. When her first son was born and was named George Rex Shane, his grandfather Rex came to see him and brought him a complete suit like the British Soldiers wore,—red." Hannah Rex Shane is remembered as she always appeared when dressed in stiff black silk.

LINE VIII

VIII. Margaret² Rex (Peggy, 8th child of Margaret Keppler-Rex and Geo.¹) was b. in Mifflin Co., Pa. in the year 1790 and was the youngest child when the family left for Green Co., Pa. May 1, 1808. m. Wm. McCullough. We have no record of the birth or death of Wm. McCullough nor the date of their marriage, however, the marriage took place in Green Co. at her father's home and must have been during the year 1807. In New Jefferson, Pa., Green Co. Cemetery are the Rex graves among which is a sort of tan colored slab which reads "In memory of Margaret McCollough, consort of Wm. McCollough, deceased May 1st, 1808, aged 18 years 5 months 22 days.

"Unveil thy bosom Faithful Tomb
 Take this new treasure to thy trust
 And give these Sacred Relics room
 To seek a Slumber in the dust
 Nor pain nor grief nor anxious fear
 Invade thy bonds no mortal woes
 Can reach the Lovely Sleeper here
 And Angels watch her Soft Repose."

Mrs. Anna R. Scott (Line VII) has a lock of hair of this Margaret's and a piece of her silk wedding dress and remembers well her son Geo.³ McC. visiting at her home about 1869 or 1870. He was then a fine looking man with gray hair, from Tuscarawas Co., O. Her 1 son as follows:

1. George³ McCullough, was born at the time of his mother's death and was raised by her brother, Benjamin Rex, although Benjamin was not married until 8 years after his sister died. They both made their home with Benjamin's parents and it is said that Benjamin took complete charge and care of the child up to the time he was married and left home. The boy lived for a number of years with a family by the name of Vantros. (Location not given.) After leaving there, he went to another part of Ohio and on May 31, 1829, he wrote a letter to his uncle, Benjamin Rex, which is yet preserved.

Buried Richmond United Presbyterian Church Cemetery beside her father, James Thompson. Benj. Rex and Martha Thompson-Rex were the parents of four children. Benj. Rex was a man of sterling character and one of the kindest hearted men of the community in which he lived. His granddaughter, Catherine Farnam, says of him "I remember grandfather as small, with large head of beautiful curly locks and deep blue eyes." Helen Dance speaks of the old home near Richmond, O, saying the buildings were erected by Benj. Rex, the grandfather of her mother "The home so interesting, at one time a fine mansion, brick with hand carved mantels, solid brass doorknobs and sun-mark on windowsill, the stone under the barn with the name B. Rex carved upon it and date, June 11, 1843." (Yet remains clear and easily read). Grace Steinwehr, in speaking of this beautiful home mentions "The old candle sticks, dishes, silverware and so many lovely things I used to stand and gaze at and admire as a little girl." Benj. Rex settled on this farm near Two Ridge Church, which was a full section of uncleared timberland. He was one of the administrators of the Will of his father, Geo. Rex 1st.

The parents of Anne Barclay Rex, first wife of Benj.² Rex, were Hugh and Ann Darrah Barclay. Hugh Barclay b. 8-24-1763, in Philadelphia, a gentlemen who wore satin knee breeches and silver buckles. His wife, Ann Darrah, was also of Phila. and they had 9 children as follows: Mary, Margaret, Harriet, Sarah, Ann, Hannah, James, Hugh and Henry. Anne Barclay's grandparents were retired merchants of Philadelphia, Pa. Their summer residence was about 12 miles north of Phila. George Washington had his headquarters at one time during the Revolutionary War at this Barclay summer home. (U. S. History, Boys of 1776 ,pg. 256, speaks of Lydia Darrah's home in S. Phila.) Ann Darrah Barclay, wife of Hugh, b. 6-16-1770. Parents of Anne Barclay were Henry and Anne Jameson Darrah; Anne Jameson Darrah was the daughter of Henry Jameson and Mary Stewart, born in Warrick, Bucks Co., Pa. Married in 1760.

Children of Capt. Henry and Ann Jameson Darrah:

James Darrah b. 1764, d. 2-17-1842. m. Rachel Henderson.

William Darrah b. 1767 d. 7-11-1838.

Ann Darrah b. 1-16-1770 m. Hugh Barclay about 1788.

John George Darrah

Margaret Darrah.

Henry Darrah was the third son of Thomas Darrah and Agnes Thompson Darrah b. 1726 at New Brittain, Pa. d. 6-1782 in New Brittain and is buried at Deep Run. Thos. Darrah (father of Henry) was of Scotch Irish descent. He came from Ireland in 1725 and settled at Deep Run, Pa. He raised a family of 5 sons and 3 daughters. Henry Darrah was a Captain in the Revolutionary War. Commissioned Lieutenant 1776, promoted to Captain, 1777.. He served as Captain of Militia under General Lacey and was probably in the Amboy Expedition in 1776. He served under Col. William Roberts, 1778. In 1780, he commanded the Eighth Company, Bucks County Militia. The family has a tradition that Gen'l Washington stopped several times with Henry Darrah and on such occasions the children were sent to the neighbors that he might not be disturbed with their noise. (This is a proven Revolutionary Line and we quote from a Pa. newspaper clipping: "LYDIA DARRAH NOT A MYTH. Really Gave Alarm to American Troops, Frankford Historians Hear. Lydia Darrah was no myth, Henry Darrah told the Frankford Historical Society last night, but actually warned the American troops at Whitemarsh of an attack planned by Howe, thus probably saving from annihilation the American troops at Valley Forge. Mr. Darrah showed by a map, made by the Survey Bureau, that Lydia made her way from 2nd and Spruce Sts., where she lived, to an old mill, on Frankford Creek, by way of Nicetown lane, using as a subterfuge a bag of grain, which she carried the whole distance of more than six miles, ostensibly to have it made into meal at the mill." There is more on Darrah in "The Lives of Eminent Philadelphians" by Henry Simpson, Pub. 1859, pg. 286-7. Darrah in "Bucks Co. History," by Davis, and "The Jamesons in America" may be interesting reading.

Martha Thompson, second wife of Benj.² Rex, was a devout member of the United Presbyterian Church in the cemetery of which she is buried. Arnold, Cadiz, Ohio, also a member of the family: "This book is the property of James Thompson who was born in the County Tyrone, Ireland, 1st day of February A. Out of a little book published by her family after her death has quite a record of her life, she says, "On January 1, 1878, I was united in marriage with A. J. Leffler and a few weeks later we began housekeeping on Cedar Flat farm in Cedar township, five miles from my childhood home and six miles from his. There we lived and raised our eight children, removing to Ames, October 4, 1912. When sixteen years old, I made a public profession of faith in the Second United Presbyterian Church of Monmouth, Ill. Dr. Alexander Young was pastor."

Lydia Leffler had written many poems and compiled at least one genealogy and was said of her she could do well four things at one time. As an illustration it is said it was not unusual to find her rocking the old-fashioned wooden churn with one foot, the cradle which contained one of the sleeping twins with the other, and in her left arm the other twin, while with the right hand would be writing a bit of verse. She completed the course at Monmouth College in two and a half years at eighteen years of age with the highest honors of a class of forty-five. Her brother, Benjamin Rex Vale, said of her: "She is a woman of strong individuality; strong physically and intellectually. She has left the lasting impress of her personal character in every stage of her life,—as daughter, sister, wife, mother and friend."

Mrs. Leffler was one of the real Marthas in working for this book and since her death, her daughter, Martha Forman, has continued in the same faithful manner. Mattie Downie and Mary Vale also assisted.

His sister wrote "Loren attended Creston public schools, carried papers from the time he was a very small boy, always just a dear manly helper. Loved baseball but never had much time to play, had a football he loved to kick around and a turning pole in the back yard on which we all had much fun. Had Plymouth Rock Chickens he much prized, and pigeons, two of which perched on the neighbor's roof who promptly shot them nearly breaking the boy's heart. He loved dogs and was always bringing home a stray. Raised "Vic" from a pup and trained him beautifully. This dog would tear around the house from the back porch to meet Loren when he heard him kissing mother, Lily and me goodbye and stayed all night with him at the ticket office, next morning returning with him carrying in his mouth his package of meat. With the railroad, Loren was in the freight and passenger offices and a car checker and then to Chicago in General Offices, but always had in mind wanting to be a doctor. When the opportunity came for him to attend Medical School in St. Louis, the officials told him he was a fool to leave because soon he would be at the top with the railroad." Writing to Dr. Parks Rex 1-17-1893, Chas. S. Rex says, "Loren went to St. L., Mo. to educate and make a Dr. of himself and I have much confidence in his ability and energy to make a success in life." He had a scholarship and cared for a furnace to help on expenses. After a year he had to stop and work again, and so on. His sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Black, most kindly offered him a home with them in Omaha, so he then attended Creighton Medical School from which he graduated in 1899. Was recommended to Wichita by his work standard and became the first intern of St. Francis Hospital. Next he took office experience and then went for a number of terms to Manhattan Eye and Ear, (N. Y.) in various positions as house surgeon, etc. Located in Wheeling, W. Va. His father in writing to Lydia Leffler 5-24-1910 says, "I am very proud of my boy or my baby who is now 36. He has made a grand success of his profession and treats an average of over 62 patients per day. I am afraid he will ruin his health, scarcely ever gets out of his office at noon and sometimes no supper until 9 or 10 o'clock at night." 5-28-1914 m. Leda Marie Ferrell, Wichita, Kansas, and went abroad for a year of study and for the benefit of his health. The war disrupted these plans and he opened offices in 4th Natl. Bank Bldg., Wichita, where he dropped dead 6-20-1917, at which time their only child was six months of age.

who bore him away and away. Tomorrow brought to me the sunlight and wide o'er arching sky; but I saw and felt it not for it brought not to me the sound of the voice of my friend nor the warm clasp of his hand. I first met Dr. Rex through the urging of a little child. And let me say that among the many fine traits of his character, none was sweeter, none more beautiful than his love for children, especially the boys. Every little newsboy on the streets knew that if a toe got hurt, Dr. Rex would tie it up; if a splinter got in a bare heel, he would take it out. He gave them just the same attention that he gave his most influential patients. It was in some such way my own little boy became acquainted with him and kept telling me about his friend until at last I went to meet him. As I looked into his fine face and felt the clasp of his hand, I felt that he was my friend and I, too, soon learned to love him. One day my little boy was seized with a deadly disease and as I saw the splendid face of Dr. Rex bending over the sick bed, he seemed to me like some 'beautiful tall angel.' And what a comfort he was to me. After the boy was well, the Doctor and he became the closest of comrades; and I also got to going to his office almost daily if only for a few minutes for the sheer joy of his presence and the rest and comfort his companionship always gave me. No matter how often I went to see him he always came and took me by the hand the same way. Even now as I go by the Bank Building, I turn unconsciously into the hall which leads up to his office above. When I remember that he is not there, with sinking spirits I go away. Perhaps my footsteps turn down the avenue to where the waters of the Arkansas glide over the yellow sands toward the sea. The sun has gone down in the West far away beyond the river, leaving the sky all glorious with its golden light. The clouds are amber and orange and purple and rose, and the evening star shines like a far distant gem. The wind has died away until only a soft breeze comes from the green country far to the South. The cottonwood trees are sharply outlined against the sky and a night bird with outstretched wings seems to be slowly drifting away and away and away into the night. All is quiet and still and beautiful as such Summer evenings always are in June. But I suddenly think of the Doctor and my spirits sink. But I know somewhere he still lives. Perhaps far away in the West where the sun is still shining, he waits; and when I go will welcome me there with the same clasp of the hand as in the old days gone by. Dr. Rex is gone and although I know his office rooms will never again know his step; his home will never again know the sound of his voice; his baby boy will never again feel the touch of his hand; although I saw the casket which held his earthly form buried beneath a hillock of flowers, I can not say, I will not say that he is dead, he's just away."

HEARTSEASE

When your poor heart aches and throbs,
With the weight of a new found sorrow,
When the future grows all dark
With never a light for the morrow,
When there's only a dull dark gray
In the stretch of your life's broad sky,
When the faded rose of your joy
Is thrown to the winds with a sigh;
Look, then, at the dark lives about you
Forgetting your own woes and strife,
While lifting the burdens of others
You bring back the color to life.
There's not such a Heartsease in Flower-land
As will grow in your life from the seed,
Sown in caring for others who sorrow
And binding the poor hearts that bleed.

MY CREED

I believe in a God So loving
That I feel His tender arms,
Bear me up when my feet would falter
And I shudder 'mid earth's alarms.

I believe in a tender Brother
Who has broken my thorny way,
With His own dear feet, so weary
Of that terrible earthly stay.

I believe in a calm sweet Spirit
That whispers but words of love,
That guides me with tenderest council
To the throne of my God above.
